

For Prayer

Please pray for:

Julia, Tasha and the ministry team.

Migrants and asylum seekers, especially those resorting to desperate measures to reach places where they might find safety and hope.

For those who face difficult times financially, particularly after Christmas. Pray for the CTIA initiative over the next few weeks, seeking to help people revise their money management, and help them find a way forward.

All those who lead our country as they make significant decisions affecting our future, that they will act with integrity and always seek the common good.

Companies and businesses concerned for their future at the present time. Remember too their employees who are fearful of what may lie ahead.

The Covenant service at St Gregory's next Saturday and that it will be well supported and lead to a deepening of relationships between our churches and, as a result, strengthen our Christian witness in the wider community.

Our local surgery and all who work there: the doctors, nurses and all support staff. Remember them especially as they deal with the additional demands of the winter time.

All victims of knife crime especially Jayden Moodie, the 14 year old killed this week. Pray for the police and all those who are trying to discover the reasons for the escalation in knife crime and are looking for ways of changing attitudes and reducing the number of stabbings.

All those who live in Buttermere Gardens, Carisbrooke Close, Sun Hill Crescent and Sun Lane.

All the staff at Traidcraft who are trying to keep the organisation going, and to continue to support all the small farmers who produce their goods.
